

Davson~World Leaders & Enlightenment

Leo Sayer, international singing star and Patron of Sharon Davson's art and charity activities, took time out from recording a new CD to share in supporting her work in the Hunter Valley.

Visitors to the award winning Hunter Valley Gardens in Pokolbin have a rare opportunity to see art by one of Australia's leading artists. The Mayor of Cessnock, John Clarence, recently officially opened the 1st preview showing 20 selected works from Davson - World Leaders & Enlightenment Collection.

The full collection is a major retrospective collection of Sharon Davson's art from 1973 to the present time and contains 50 works. This includes two major works each over five metres in length that montage contributions by 80 world leaders from various fields. Among these are Sir Cliff Richard, Dame Cleo Laine, Mario Andretti, Sir Jack Brabham, Cathy Freeman, Layne Beachley, Mark Richards, Andre Agassi, Pete Sampras and many others.

Davson has had a wide-ranging influence; her accomplished and innovative contribution to art, her dedicated efforts in founding 48 Hours Toward World Peace, the Davson Foundation and Artists For Life, and her care of all in our global community spans three decades of a personal journey. The Davson - World Leaders & Enlightenment collection is to tour for approximately four years in public regional art galleries, museums and venues. It encapsulates a unique and definitive collection of Davson's personal globalism.

It also celebrates the work of this internationally acknowledged Australian artist, and is a visual expression of her care and concern for all inhabitants of our planet and its environment. On viewing these works, it is easy to understand why Davson is known as the artist world leaders follow.
