Denver Donates Handprint

Denver Donates Handprint

IF it was good enough for Neil Diamond it's good enough for the environmentalist John Denver. During his recent concert tour, the country boy left a handprint to be auctioned off to help raise funds for the environmental organisation, Artists For Life, which specialises in trying to save endangered species. Those interested in donating directly to Artists For Life should contact them on (02) 807 4499.
